DEATH TOLL IN THEATER CRASH 108

FOUR INVESTIGATIONS STARTED TO FIX RESPONSIBILITY FOR EASTERN TRAGEDY

SWEEPING PROBE INTO ALL CITY THEATERS BEGUN

Houses With Rofs imilar to Knickerbocker Are Closed.
SNOW IS BLAMED
Work of District Building Inspection Department To Be Probed.

Washington, Jan. 30.—With its morgues and undertaking establishments filled with mutilated dead, its hospitals crowded with injured, mourning Washington today witnessed the inauguration of investigations aimed at not only placing the responsibility for the terrible Knickerbocker Theater tragedy but also at planning up the district of Columbia government.

Grim and angry senators, most of whom lost friends and acquaintances in the terrific toll of life by Saturday night's catastrophe, voiced a demand for a general "cleanup" within a few minutes after congress convened today.

At the same time, a grand jury visited the scene of the disaster, and other investigations were gotten under way by the coroner and the district of Columbia government.

"For God's sake let's have a real investigation," said Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican of New Jersey, soon after the senate convened.

"Let's have an investigation of the whole government of the district of Columbia and its administration of laws, such as will prevent a repetition of the horrible disaster which has plunged the national capital in mourning."

Senator Frelinghuysen was speaking on the resolution introduced a few minutes before by Senator Capper, of Kansas in which he asked for an investigation not only to fix responsibility for the terrible Knickerbocker disaster, but also of rumors that collusion between contractors and the district government was enabling owners to "get by" with many unsafe buildings of war time construction.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Four separate investigations to determine the causes and to fix responsibility for the collapse of the Knickerbocker Theater, Saturday night were getting under way today. They were:

Ford Suggests Corn Be Used To Make Alcohol

Auto Manufacturer Suggests That Congress Turn Attention to Utilizing Vast Supply of Corn in Making of Fuel for Combustion Engines.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 30.—Henry Ford today authorized the Detroit Times to transmit to members of congress his suggestion that they give their immediate attention to the vital question of the future supply of fuels for use in combustion engines, principally automobile motors.

In an interview with Mr. Ford he said that at such a time as now, when farmers throughout the country have millions of bushels of corn on hand and with no prospect of a market for the produce, congress should turn its attention to the manufacture of commercial alcohol.

"With these millions of bushels of corn in the hands of the farmers, and with the country stocked with food enough to last for the next five years, I suggest to congress that manufacturing plants be established about the country for the making of commercial alcohol, to take the place of the fast diminishing supply of gasoline," he said.

"Congress is in a position to pass the necessary legislation to permit of the establishment of these manufacturing plants, and I take this means of citing to our senators and congressmen a grave situation."

"Such a manufacture of commercial alcohol would have at least two results, which would make it worth while," said Mr. Ford. "First, it would create a substitute for shale oil products, which, when they are exhausted will not be created again until the earth experiences another upheaval, if ever; and second, it will create a market for the farmer, whose corn is now a drug on the market."

"It is my desire that this situation be brought to the attention of members of congress. In the event of action on their part I will be pleased to offer them the use of my laboratories, together with any suggestions I may have relative to the manufacture of commercial alcohol."

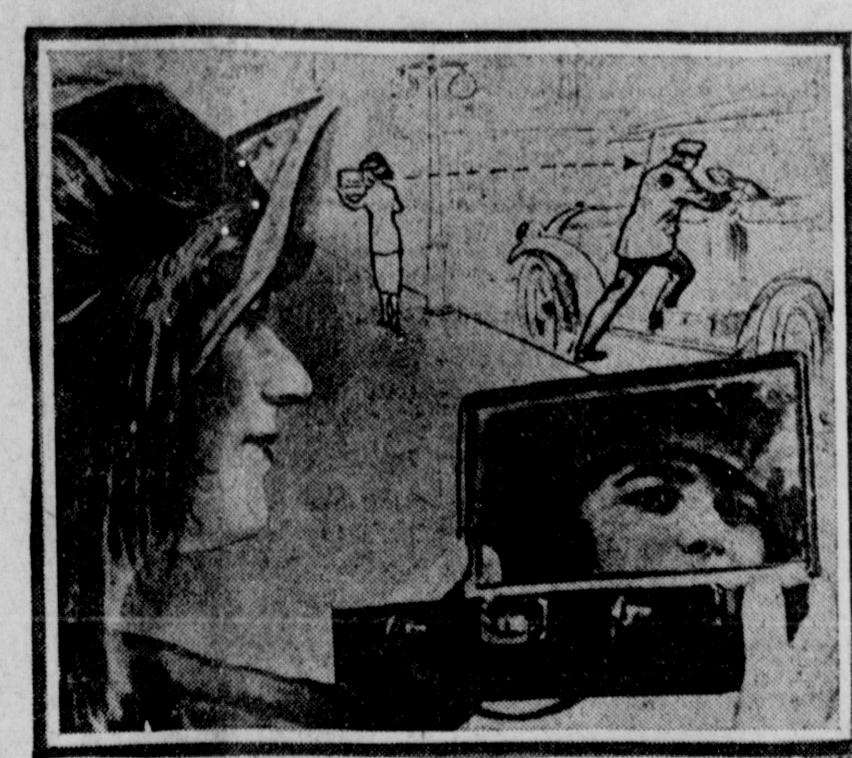

The possibility that the present prohibition laws might deter the establishment of such commercial alcohol plants was suggested to Mr. Ford but his reply was that the introduction of a slight dash of kerosene into the alcohol would kill any use it might have as a beverage.

Mr. Ford has been experimenting for some time past on potatoes as a source of commercial alcohol and believes the potato will ultimately be the principal product from which commercial alcohol will be manufactured.

However, when he learned of the fact that farmers of the country have millions of bushels of corn which they cannot dispose of, he made tests of the alcoholic contents of that product.

He says that as a result of these tests he has found that one bushel of corn will produce approximately two gallons of commercial alcohol and that considering the food value of the corn which is not impaired by the extraction of the alcohol and its sales value, after the alcohol has been taken, the manufacturing cost would be approximately twelve and one half cents a gallon.

USES VANITY CASE TO TRAP THIEF

Hawkshaw, the detective and his magnifying glass are out of date, having been supplanted by a woman with a vanity mirror. Mrs. Ella Michaels, detective in a San Francisco department store, was powdering her nose when she saw reflected in the mirror of her vanity case a thief taking a parcel from an automobile. His arrest followed.

Cardinals Are Deadlocked Over Selection of Pope

Election of Comparatively Obscure Churchman May Result, It is Believed Following Week End Conference of Roman Catholic Cardinals.

Rome, Jan. 30.—Week end conferences of Roman Catholic cardinals indicated today that the deadlock between factions led by Cardinal Merry Del Val and Cardinal Gasparri could not be broken and that it may result in the election of some comparatively obscure cardinal to the papacy in the forthcoming conclave.

Monsignor Benigni, chief lieutenant in Rome of the so-called anti-reconciliation faction says that Cardinal Merry Del Val, this faction's choice for pope, is certain of twenty votes.

On the other hand Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state who favors a policy of reconciliation between the Vatican and the Italian state, claims 29 votes.

As 56 cardinals are expected to attend the conclave, this leaves seven that are uncertain. It requires a two thirds majority to elect.

M. Jonart, French ambassador to the Vatican, at the request of Premier Poincare, will remain in Rome throughout the conclave. It is understood he is working for the election of a "political pope" that is, a pope from the Gasparri group, which would renew friendly relations between the Vatican and the quinal.

Only Cardinals Dubois, Archbishop of Paris and Lucon, archbishop of Rheims, are supporting M. Jonart. The other French cardinals are opposed to the Gasparri group.

Beginning today special masses will be offered until the conclave opens Thursday in the Sistine chapel.

San Francisco, Jan. 30.—While Gavin McNab, chief counsel for Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, put on his legal armor in Nevada, today, in behalf of another famous motion picture star—Mary Pickford—thus halting the Arbuckle trial, harassed bailiffs endeavored to find means of diversion for twelve men and two women, the jury and alternates in the fat comedian's case, who have now been locked up three weeks.

DEMANDS REMOVAL OF ALLIED ARMIES

Berlin, Jan. 30.—President Paul Loebe, president of the Reichstag, addressing a mass meeting of Rhinelanders in this city, demanded removal of the allied armies of occupation. He attacked Premier Poincare of France for making "frivolous utterances."

Marcel Cachin, communist, member of the French chamber of deputies, came to Berlin to address the German communists. He protested against the indemnity policy of the French government, declaring that the Poincare cabinet was purposely trying to prevent the reconstruction of the devastated areas of France by German workmen.

OHIO EAGLES WILL FIGHT FOR PENSION

Columbus, Jan. 30.—Decision that Ohio Eagles will vigorously campaign in favor of a proposed state law providing for old age pensions was registered at a meeting here of representatives of 105 aeries located in all parts of the state.

It is planned to have the state legislature, at its next session, enact into law a bill recently endorsed by the American Federation of Labor. The Eagles are expected to approve this bill.

A campaign committee has been selected by the Eagles, including M. O. Burns, Hamilton, chairman; Charles Seidenfeld, Murray City; Henry J. Berroldin, Akron; M. L. Tracey Zanesville; C. F. Elise, Gallion; Wm. McCoy, Coshocton; Edward W. Granger, Piqua; M. A. Hyde, Marietta; Steve Leser, Elyria; Howard N. Ragland, and Judge S. W. Bell, Cincinnati; Joseph H. Dowling Dayton; Charles Shannon and A. C. Helriegel, Cleveland; John O. Dwyer, Toledo; John J. Graney, Youngstown.

DELAY OCCASIONED IN ARBUCKLE TRIAL

San Francisco, Jan. 30.—While Gavin McNab, chief counsel for Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, put on his legal armor in Nevada, today, in behalf of another famous motion picture star—Mary Pickford—thus halting the Arbuckle trial, harassed bailiffs endeavored to find means of diversion for twelve men and two women, the jury and alternates in the fat comedian's case, who have now been locked up three weeks.

Four witnesses remain to be called to complete the state's rebuttal testimony.

The defense has at least two rebuttal witnesses under subpoena but whether they will be summoned has not been determined.

In the event Judge Louderback rules against the state reopening its direct case to introduce testimony to impeach statements of Zey Prevon that she was coerced, arguments may begin late Tuesday or Wednesday morning. In this event the jury will get the case in all probability Wednesday afternoon.

YEGGS BREAK INTO THEATER; ESCAPE

Cleveland, Jan. 30.—More than $3800 was obtained early this morning by yeggs who broke into the offices of Lowe's Park Theater, bound the night watchman, forced upon the same and escaped. Other bandits secure diamonds and gold from the same in the office of Irwin Unger, dentist valued at $1,000 at about the same hour.

Hold up men secured $1,000 in cash from four men and two women shortly after midnight.

POSTPONEMENT OF CONFERENCE URGED

Rome, Jan. 30.—Members of the Italian government deem a slight postponement of the international economic conference advisable it was learned today. It is held that the postponement is necessary owing to the delay in the meeting of the French, British and Italian foreign ministers. Premier Poincare's near east note to the British foreign office brought about the postponement of the council of foreign ministers. The Genoa conference was scheduled to open March 8.

MANY MORE CAUGHT IN PICTURE HOUSE AS ROOF FALLS EXPECTED TO DIE

Terrific Weight of Snow On Structure Believed Responsible for Accident Which Buries Spectators Under Tons of Twisted Steel and Concrete.

WORST DISASTER IN WASHINGTON HISTORY

Whole Families Wiped Out as Catastrophe Occurs Without Warning—Wild Confusion Reigns Saturday Night—Hospitals Filled.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Exhausted from the 36 hours of unremitting toil, and heart sick from the horrible tragedies uncovered in the wreckage of the Knickerbocker theater collapse, begrimed soldiers and marines dropped their tools at 8 o'clock and declared that all the bodies had been recovered from the pile of twisted iron and cement that once was the capital's finest movie palace.

The death list as the sun came up over the desolate scene stood at 108, all identified. There are more than 150 in Washington hospitals, some of these so terribly mutilated that hospital authorities say they cannot survive. They predicted the death list will grow before night fall from those who will die in hospitals.

Under the terrific weight of two feet of snow the roof of the Knickerbocker Theater, one of Washington's finest picture houses collapsed about nine o'clock, Saturday night burying under a mass of twisted steel and concrete, hundreds of patrons, and bringing death and injury in its wake.

The theater which was located in the heart of Washington's fashionable northwest section has accommodations for more than 2,000 spectators, but owing to the blizzard which swept the city, Saturday, the usual week end crowd was not on hand, estimates placing the number of people in the theater at the time of the accident around 500.

The United States marines stationed at Washington, during the disarmament conference aided the police and firemen and volunteers in the work of rescue. Shortly after the crash acetylene torches were employed to cut through the twisted steel in an effort to reach the victims.

Some of those in the hospitals have legs and arms torn off, others chests crushed or terrible head injuries, from the enormous weight of concrete, steel that came hurtling down on them from the weight-weakened roof without an instant's warning.

Edward H. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, is one of those so seriously injured it is feared he may die. He has a broken pelvis and internal injuries and blood transfusion already has been resorted to in an effort to save his life.

Dr. Clyde M. Gearhart, a widely known capital dental specialist, suffered legs so badly crushed, that it was said at his hospital this morning, they may have to be amputated. His wife and nine-year-old son were lost in the tragedy. A great steel beam fell across the family, killing the woman and the boy and pinning the doctor, who sat beside them, for more than 12 hours he was conscious under death the wreckage with the knowledge that his wife and son lay alongside him dead.

Mrs. Howard Kneest, wife of the vice president of a large automobile firm in the District, had one leg torn off in a terrible manner. Her husband was killed beside her.

VIOLENCE FOLLOWS TROOPS' DEPARTURE FROM STRIKE ZONE

Mob Attacks Home of Mill Worker in Newport, Kentucky.

Newport, Ky., Jan. 30.—Further trouble is feared today in the strike zone around the Newport Rolling Mills, whose employees have been on strike for some time. Following the withdrawal of Kentucky guardsmen Saturday one of the most violent outbreaks of the many that have marked the trouble occurred late last night when a mob, believed to have been composed of strike sympathizers attacked the home of John Hinchelbourn, a mill worker, drove him and his family from their dwelling and wrecked the cottage.

Fire broke out in two rooms of the house were entirely burned before the fire was under control. During the progress of the fire some one cut the hose of the chemical engine, scattering streams of acid and soda solution in all directions. An attempt was made to wreck the auto of Fire Chief King, it is said.

During this disturbance, Governor Edwin Morrow was in secret conference in Cincinnati with the mill's owners.

No statement could be gotten from the governor following the conference but it is said he will remain here awaiting the outcome of further developments in the strike zone.

Keyser, W. Va., Jan. 30.—Full beards and long hair received a blow here today when local barbers put into effect a price cut on their work. Hair cuts were reduced from 50 to 40 cents and shaves from a quarter to a dime, the first move in West Virginia to return to pre-war price levels for tonsorial services. The new scale was endorsed by the local barbers union.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR NEW TELEPHONES

R. E. Manley, commercial engineer and Rudolph Christman, special agent of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, of Columbus, were in Dayton and Osborn, Friday and Saturday making a survey preparatory to laying out plans for continuance of service while the village of Osborn is being moved to its new site, and to provide for service after the removal.

It is yet undecided whether the present exchange at Osborn will be maintained until the village is entirely moved or whether the new exchange will be established as soon as the removal is begun. The company will attempt, however, to give service to as many subscribers as possible without a hitch.

Between 200 and 250 houses are to be moved from the old to the new site. There are now approximately 250 subscribers in the Osborn exchange, and there are 35 subscribers at the village of Fairfield. It is expected that the new exchange, which is to care for both villages, will carry about 300 stations.

WHY DO THEY LIKE THIS MAN?

It Is Because He Has the Life and Energy That Red Blood Gives.

He has a good color. He is strong and virile, and looks it. He is good humored. He laughs easily. In short, he is "full of life," which is simply another way of saying he is full of red blood. If you are weak and run-down and nervous, don't sleep very well and have a poor appetite go to your druggist and buy a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it for a few weeks at meal-time. COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE NETS NEARLY $5,000 BY MONDAY

With more reports still to come in, there was every indication, Monday, from the Community Chest campaign headquarters, that the fund in hand for the day would run over $5,000 half of the amount set as a goal for the drive.

Reports received up to noon, Monday, showed a total collection of pledges at that time amounting to $4,895.68 with many more reports still to come in. These reports are expected to come in daily for several days and it will probably be the last of the week before the complete returns are obtainable.

Classification of subscriptions up to noon, Monday, were as follows: Lodges, $215; churches, $1,469.59; business and professional men, $1,138.50; men's clubs, $586; women's clubs, exclusive of churches and lodges, $1,301.55.

"Button Day" Saturday, when high school girls volunteered as solicitors of shopping day crowds, brought in a total of $45.54 and the canvas of the city, Sunday afternoon resulted in $17.50 being collected, although all of the reports from this house to house solicitation, were not in at noon Monday.

The combined budgets of the Social Service League and the Opportunity School for the year, amount to $6,500 and it was in the hope of raising this amount, at least, that the goal of the drive was set at $10,000. With $5,000 now practically in hand, it is still hoped that those who have not been solicited, or those who are delaying in filling out a pledge, will bring in their contributions, and run the total to at least $6,500.

Efficient Housekeeping

No. 5 Sudbury Road, Concord, Mass., Jan. 27th, 1921.

Editor The Gazette and The Republican.

In reply to your letter of the 9th, I am sending you the enclosed for your reader who wished a description of a "house warming" in an early issue.

I thought it was best to send you this direct, instead of inserting it in Efficient Housekeeping, as I do my articles a little in advance of release dates, and you can, in this way, insert this reply in your paper only, and at once.

Yours very truly,
MISS LAURA A. KIRKMAN,
Ed. of "Efficient Housekeeping."

PLANNING A HOUSE WARMING

When asking one's friends in to celebrate the event of entering a new home, the hostess should take two things into consideration: games and refreshments. The invitations may be written in a simple way or may be delivered over the telephone or by word of mouth.

When the guests arrive the games are started in the living room. Guests, who are invited to a house warming do not bring presents to the hostess. (Unless the affair is a surprise party, when they bring their own refreshments—but in that case of course they are not invited.) A good game to start with is:

Observation Contest: Give each a pencil and paper and ask each to write his name at the top of the sheet. Bring a tray-full of small articles from another room—desk supplies, bureau articles, sewing articles, etc. There should be about fifteen small things on the tray. A Time Keeper will announce that at the end of four minutes each person will write upon his slip, not showing it to anyone else all the things he can remember seeing on the tray. A prize goes to the person whose list is most perfect.

A Slang Contest comes next. Give each guest a fresh sheet of paper and ask him to write down all the slang he can think of in five minutes. All are seated in a circle while this is done, and none may look at his neighbor's paper. The papers are then read aloud by each "author" and the prize goes (unexpectedly) to the one who has written the fewest slang words and expressions, with the explanation that "he is the most refined."

The Best Love Story Contest follows. This makes great fun, too. Each person, still remaining in his chair, is asked to think up a very romantic love story and tell it aloud. It must be original and only five minutes are allowed for telling it. The player may not have more than one minute in which to think it up—unless, some of them can think while another player is relating his or her story. The fun lies in these tales being absolutely impromptu. A good prize to offer for this would be an inexpensive small edition of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" with the written words, "A love story almost as romantic as yours."

Refreshments follow: In the dining room, the menu being:
Olives
Chicken Salad
Cream Cheese Sandwiches
Hot Cocoa topped with Whipped Cream
Layer Cake
Nuts
Candies

The table should be decorated as follows: Make a tiny house out of pieces of cardboard—anyone can do this, with the aid of a paste and a set of child's paints—and put the number of the hostess' house on the front door. Have the little door standing open and "Welcome" written above it. Make "grass" around it by cutting up green crepe paper. This is the centerpiece. Cardboard keys with "Come again" written on them make pretty favors.

Mr. Wagner has also purchased the entire equipment of the Schell Jewelry Store, from the estate of the late F. J. H. BURGLAR RANSACKS KELBLE HOME ON W. CHURCH STREET

A burglar who forced the lock on a side door at the home of C. A. Kelble, West Church Street, Saturday night, stole only a small coin bank that was a keepsake in the family, and which contained about $3.37 in small change, although the upstairs was ransacked in an evident attempt to find something of more value.

Mrs. Kelble and Miss Gladys Kelble returning home from the Kelble store on West Main Street, about 9:15 o'clock Saturday night, discovered the contents of the drawers in the bed rooms in disorder, but not missing anything, did not attach any significance to the fact. The finding of the mortise lock on a downstairs lavatory door forced clear out of the wood, and the door standing open, Sunday recalled the disarrangement of the contents of the drawers of the night before and leads to the belief that the robber entered before Mrs. Kelble and her daughter had returned home.

The disappearance of the bank, which had been in the family for more than 60 years, was also discovered Sunday morning. It had contained about $15 several weeks ago, but had been recently emptied. An investigation on the outside showed large footprints, leading to the lavatory door and away from it again around the west side of the house, and it is believed the marauder was frightened away by the return of Mrs. Kelble and Miss Kelble while at his depredations.

Oscar Smith, West Second Street reported to police Monday morning that his home had been entered sometime during the night, and eight table cloths, valued at $7 and $8 apiece, a quantity of other linen and some other trinkets had been stolen from a trunk in a downstairs room.

Mr. Smith keeps a rooming house and it is thought the door had been left open by the last person to use the entrance. The trunk was in a room directly off the bedroom used by Mr. Smith, and the linen was kept in the bottom of the trunk. A woman who occupies the upstairs of the house, said she heard someone walking around about two o'clock, but thought it was Smith. Three glass dishes belonging to her were also stolen.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS CALLED OUT

Soot burning under the roof, caused by a defective flue, at the residence of Benjamin Cunningham, on Hall street off of East Church, caused the fire department to make a call, Monday afternoon at two o'clock.

A bucket of water extinguished the blaze and firemen did not have to use water or chemicals.

NO CLUES FOUND AS TO IDENTITY OF LOCAL ROBBERS

Police, Monday, were in possession of no further information as a clue to the identity of burglars who robbed the W. E. Boring book store and the DeWine Milling Co., elevator, early Saturday morning.

Residents of West Second street are said to have seen a touring car with the engine running, parked near the alley entrance that leads from that street to the rear of the Boring store for at least two hours, Friday night, between the hours of 11 and one o'clock, but did not attach any significance to the fact.

Police believe that this car was one used by the burglars in their escape, and that the single shot fired by the fleeing robbers after the arrival of police was a signal to be ready to go. The shot, passed through the transom over the rear of the door of the room occupied by the S. J. Whitt jewelry store and the D. E. Anderson insurance agency.

Police in other cities have been notified to be on the look out for merchant, disas such as stolen at the Boring store. A call to Springfield and other cities by Chief of Police Chaham, Monday resulted in no new information.

JAMES JEFFRYES 101 ON MONDAY

The venerable James Jeffryes, spent Monday, quietly at his home on West Second street. The day represented the one hundred and first anniversary of his birth.

No birthday celebration in his honor was planned for Monday although several of his relatives visited him during the day.

With the exception of his eyesight, which prevents his reading, even with the aid of glasses, Mr. Jeffryes appears in unusually good health.

FOUR BILLIONS TO PLACE GERMANY ON FEET SAYS PARVUS

Berlin—Given a credit of $4,000,000,000, Germany will be able to reconstruct her commerce and industry and pay her debts to the Allies, declared the German economist Parvus in a comprehensive article published by the Vorwarts.

Parvus, whose real name is Helphand, is one of the best known of German economists. He was one of the economic experts of the German delegation at the peace conference of Brest-Litovsk, and was frequently sent to the Kaiser's government on foreign missions.

"In order to furnish the necessary security for the loan," said Parvus, "the German State monopolies and the big business interests must organize themselves together into a mutual credit association. Such a credit association would naturally have to face severe attacks from the money lenders. Its properties and going enterprises will cover many times over the figures of the loan asked, and they would also provide for the interest payments."

"The $4,000,000,000 credit should be used, before anything else, to constitute a reserve for the German payments to the Allies, in so far as they could not be met by the current revenues of the Reich. Once these payments are protected, then we could lay plans for the balancing of the budget and reform of the monetary system."

"A part of the credit should immediately go for the reconstruction of the State monopolies and private industrial plants."

"The credit for the reconstruction of the State monopolies and private industry need not all be in money. A considerable part may be constituted in goods."

"A part of the gold loan which is to protect the payments to the Allies need not be paid out at all. It can be written up on the books as a loan, but will actually be in the nature of a moratorium."

Instead of the $4,000,000,000 loan an Allied moratorium for the same amount would serve the purpose, in the opinion of Parvus.

"The problem would then become smaller and could be solved by simpler methods. In that case we will have to enact the mutual credit association by a statute and secure the necessary capital for internal reconstruction as a purely national project. We shall arrive at the same result by a different road."

AROUSSED OVER KILLING

Athens, Jan. 30.—Farmers living in the vicinity of Chesterhill are aroused over the recent killing of a number of hogs and sheep. The animals have been partially eaten and watchdogs have been attacked and mutilated. It is feared that a wolf is at large, although no animal of the sort has been seen in Southern Ohio for years.

SERVE 2,000 BOTTLES OF MILK

Nelsonville, Jan. 30.—The local parent-teacher association has found out that, in endeavoring to provide milk for undernourished school children, it has a big proposition on its hands. In the first week, over 2,000 bottles were served the children. A campaign for additional funds will be necessary.

Big Savings For The Thrifty Housewife

Few homes indeed do not feel the need of economy. The necessity of making every penny count touches the purse of every housewife. It is doubtful if there is a single article employed as a food or in the preparation of food that demands more buying wisdom than Baking Powder. Upon its quality depends the success and economy of the bakings themselves.

Calumet Baking Powder enables the housewife to make three worth one. She saves when she buys it—it is moderate in price. She saves when she uses it—she uses only half as much as is required of most other powders. She saves materials it is used with—it never permits bake-day failure. Any woman can use Calumet with absolute certainty of best results—delicious, tasty bakings that are pure and wholesome.

True home economy of time, material and effort is completely handled in Reliable Recipes, the 76-page Cook Book and Household Hints. A copy is yours FREE—for the asking. Address Home Economics Dept. Calumet Baking Powder Co., 4100 Fillmore St., Chicago, Ill.—Adv.

Where the skirts are of irregular length, to within three or four inches of the panels reach the floor.

Funeral of some of the victims were held today, although the majority of them will be tomorrow. Capital undertaking establishments worked throughout Sunday and all of last night preparing the bodies for interment.

The theater building was one of a number owned by Harry M. Randall and was regarded as one of the most beautiful in the city. It was often used for afternoon lectures, attended by the society folk of the city. All was confusion for hours after the crash while police, firemen, marines from the nearby barracks and soldiers from Walter Reed Military hospital strove to burrow beneath the mass of debris and bring forth those buried thereunder.

Scores had been removed from the edges of the debris and hurried to hospitals but police engaged for twenty-four hours in battling the worst snowstorm to visit Washington in a decade were unable to check upon the number of those taken to the hospitals for on whether any, or how many had died after reaching the hospitals.

Every fire station in the city was called upon to send its crew to the scene and the collection of fire fighting apparatus only added to the confusion.

With the arrival of the marines, however, order began to be restored.

Emergency hospitals were set in the neighborhood, some in the homes of high officials of the government.

CEDARVILLE SCHOOL SHOWS RESULTS OF EFFORT SAYS NURSE

"Cedarville School, one of our most modern schools in the county, represents what cooperation on the part of the faculty and the parents can accomplish in the making of an ideal program for child health and education, laying the foundation for better American citizenship," said Miss Helen Evers, Red Cross Public Health nurse, who spent last week inspecting the children of Cedarville School.

"The co-operation shown here is an inspiration, for what the school of tomorrow will accomplish in social as well as personal hygiene," she went on to say.

"On visiting the grades one is impressed with the improvement shown over three years ago. With assistance of the Coach, Mr. Blackburn who had weighed and measured the boys and girls before my arrival and one of the High School teachers who has charge of the Health Program, we classified the children according to their weight, inspecting only those who showed abnormal condition either under or over weight, together with those whom the teacher wished inspected because of some obvious defect.

"Defective dirty teeth and defective vision were the more common defects found.

"In giving personal hygiene talks to each grade, the first and second grades show splendid training in personal hygiene reflecting the efforts of the women who are helping them form hygienic habits which will show concrete results later in life," Miss Evers said.

The survey follows:
204 children were inspected.
Ninety-three boys.
One hundred and eleven girls.

Thirty-three girls, sixteen boys, 20 children showed 7 per cent or more underweight. 29 children showed 10 per cent or more underweight.

Fifteen girls, ten boys, 25 who are 10 per cent or more underweight. Twenty girls, nine boys, 29 children are 10 percent or more over weight.

Ten girls, 3 boys, 13 who are 20 per cent or more over weight.

Ninety-three boys inspected, 17 per cent plus are under weight, 9 7-16 per cent are over weight (3 1-4 per cent are 20 per cent or more over weight), 73 per cent are normal weight.

One hundred and eleven girls inspected, 29 per cent are 7 per cent or more under weight, 9 per cent are 10 per cent or more under weight, 19 per cent are 10 per cent or more over weight (9 per cent are 20 per cent or more over weight), 62 per cent are normal weight.

"The results of the weighing and measuring and inspection show splendid physical development, which is no doubt due to the training being given by the Coach, together with modern facilities, the gymnasium and playground appliances," declared Miss Evers.

"It is to be hoped that the parents will have their children examined, by the family physician, dentist and oculist, and have all defects removed which interfere with the nutrition and growth of the child."

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TANTRUMS

Children have tantrums either on account of poor training or some physical ailment. The first of these causes is not in the physicians province, although in many such cases the family doctor is supposed to act in the place of father, mother, nurse and half a dozen relatives besides. To be quite frank, when we find a child violent on slight provocation or resorting to naughtiness to gain his ends, we in many cases, find that the mother is herself lacking in self control, cannot endure having the child cry, and thinks that affection is best expressed in unlimited indulgence; there has been failure to teach the baby, from its birth, obedience to law and order and the child soon learns that all he has to do to attract attention is by kicking, screaming, holding his breath and so on, and that then he will get what he wants.

Many physical causes of tantrums center about the child's genitals; and the child should be taken to the family doctor for careful examination and removal of such causes, under an anesthetic, if necessary. Thus with a vast amount of perversity in late life be avoided. Another thing that must be established very early in childhood is regular habit as to stool and the like. Other physical defects that might make a child irritable, neurotic and perhaps ungovernable are eye strain, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, imperfect teeth, poor nutrition (too much feeding, especially with sweets, as well as too little) and unhygienic living. It will not do just to say the child has nerves and ask the doctor to prescribe the drugist to hand across the counter some "dope" for it. The reason for tantrums must be found in each case, and then intelligent remedial action must be taken.

An Army Marches On Its Stomach, Said Napoleon

The Great Corsican Knew That Success in Life Depends Upon Your Strength, Energy and Endurance.

BY HARRISON VAUGHN

When Napoleon led his victorious armies through Europe, his worst enemies were not the nations defending themselves against his smashing onslaught; but he was confronted by the graver question of how to provide nourishing and strengthening food for his soldiers.

The Great Corsican realized long over a century ago, as has every commanding general since, that men's bodies must be perfectly nourished if they are to retain their natural strength, energy and vigor; in fact, that the very health of the human being is regulated almost entirely by the stomach. Under-feeding, insufficient nourishment, means loss of flesh, anemia, lack of red blood and subsequent weakness of the entire system.

What such people need to enable nature to bring back their strength and vigor, restore their lost weight, and put them in fighting trim, with rich, red blood coursing through their veins is Tanlac, the powerful 'reconstructive tonic and body builder.

A man or woman suffering from sour stomach, bad breath, biliousness, is unfitted either for physical or mental labor. Sufferers from these ailments find life a burden; they look on the world through blue, glasses, the joy and rewards of the vigorous, happy, normally healthy person is not theirs. Their troubles embitter them against the world, destroy their ambitions and make their lives dull and unhappy.

How foolish to continue in this condition when on every hand throughout the length and breadth of the land, people by the thousands are daily testifying to the remarkable powers of Tanlac in conquering stomach troubles. This powerful reconstructive medicine builds up the weak and the despondent; gives them new hope and happiness and a new lease on life.

Tanlac's name has been praised by hundreds of thousands. Testimonials from every corner of the United States and Canada, have shown conclusively that even in cases where patients had almost given up all hope and where men and women had believed themselves doomed to a life of misery and suffering, Tanlac has overcome their troubles and brought back health, energy and happiness into their lives.

If you are not "fit as a fiddle" in the morning and don't feel better than when you went to bed; if your breath is offensive and you have that bad taste in your mouth, your body is not being nourished properly. What you need is Tanlac to restore you to normal so Nature can bring back the flesh you've lost, put the bloom of health in your cheeks, the spring of energy in your step and the sparkle of happiness and contentment in your eye.

NOTE—Tanlac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Tanlac treatment. You cannot hope to get the most satisfactory results from Tanlac without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. Tanlac Vegetable Pills are absolutely free from calomel and are sold on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction.

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre and Hemphill and leading druggists everywhere.

REVIVAL MEETINGS AT 1ST M. E. CHURCH START ON SUNDAY

The revival meetings at the First Methodist Church started Sunday. The song leader and organizer, Mr. Wicand was present and was introduced to the Sunday School and congregation. The new song book, "Tabernacle Hymns" was used for the first time the big chorus choir leading the singing.

In the morning Dr. Scott's sermon was particularly addressed to the church, in the evening again, but with more of the evangelistic tone to it, the sermon at once showed what could be expected from the platform.

"Is Your Heart Right? Put Your Heart into It." The application of these truths was easy and, once challenged the membership of the church to put their best into the work ahead.

There will be meetings every evening this week. The big chorus sings promptly at seven thirty. Monday night, a prayer service at seven o'clock will be held in the lecture room.

A committee having in charge the group prayer meetings is headed by Mr. W. O. Custis. The city has been districted into seventeen groups with leaders, and a prayer meeting arranged by them for Tuesday and Thursday mornings from nine thirty to ten o'clock. Announcement will be made regularly where meetings are to be held.

The various districts follow and the homes where meetings for Tuesday are called.

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS SERVICES SUNDAY EVENING

Intense interest was shown in the evangelistic services of the group of churches engaged in this campaign by the large audience that filled the auditorium of Trinity Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

The chorus choir under the direction of Mrs. McGervey was well worth hearing. Two numbers of a high order were rendered in such a manner as tended to prepare all for the message that was to follow.

Dr. V. F. Brown, pastor of Trinity Church was the preacher of the evening and choose as his text the statement of our Savior upon the cross, "It is finished." A message from Calvary was the theme of the sermon.

These services will be held in Trinity Methodist church each night of this week at 7:30 Monday night Rev. D. D. Dodds of the First United Presbyterian Church will preach the sermon.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

FAMOUS OPERA STAR STRICKEN SATURDAY

New York, Jan. 30.—Specialists were conferring early today to determine whether or not it would be necessary to operate upon Lucien Muratore, famous tenor of the Chicago Opera Company for chronic appendicitis which developed Saturday. No report could be obtained from Mr. Muratore's rooms at the Ritz-Carlton hotel this morning because it was said there orders had been given that he was "not to be disturbed."

Dr. Charles F. A. Locke, local specialist, today conferred with Dr. Reng Bowdwin, Muratore's secretary and personal physician. The result of their conference could not be learned.

PENSION PLAN SCORED

Akron, Jan. 30.—In his address last night before the typographical union C. L. Knight, representative to congress from the 14th district, scored the old age pension plan proposed for the state. He declared the "pension scheme is an attempt on the part of men who never worked and never will work if they can help it to have the honest men of the state support them."

Do You Play Auction Bridge? Come on in. The Game is fine. They all are doing it.

"Stop, Look, and Listen"

More hands are wrecked by blocking partner's suit, and then unblocking opponent's suit, than most any other thoughtless, heedless plays.

In a no-trump your partner will never open with a high card unless holding a very long or strong suit.

Having become familiar with the table of leads against a no-trump make the player will see it is best not to be left with a single high card in his partner's suit, and will unblock as follows:

Unblocking at No-Trump

When Partner Leads	And You Hold	Play
Ace	King, Queen, and one	Queen
Ace	King and one	King
Ace	Queen, Jack, and one	Jack
King	Ace and one	Ace
King	Queen, Jack and one	Jack
Queen	King and one	King
Jack	King, Queen, and one	Queen

Holding four or more cards of your partner's suit, hold up the lowest card until the last round. For example, holding Jack, nine, five, and three on partner's lead of King, Ace, play five on King and nine on Ace. Holding up three, your partner can read you with four of the suit, and you cannot block length of suit in his hand.

Blocking the dummy when declarer is playing a no-trump and dummy holds a long suit without re-entry, an adversary, if possible, should block it and prevent the long cards from making by holding the winning card until declarer has played what is necessarily his last card of the suit. Great care should be taken not to miss this opportunity when it occurs. In other words, sew up the suit in the hand, thereby blocking.

Avoid opening new suits. In other words do not change suit without good reason.

When the honors of a suit are evenly divided, opening it is practically sure to cost a trick, and starting of any suit which is not headed by both Ace and King, or by a three-card sequence, is almost invariably disadvantageous.

A player should remember that the lead of his partner has been with some object, and should therefore be returned except when the holding of dummy or some other development renders such action plainly inadvisable.

"Shifting suits is about as advantageous as swapping horses while crossing a stream," and the advice to return the partner's suit rather than risk a new one applies with equal force whether a no-trump or suit declaration is being played, but does not refer to the situation in which the partner evidently desires that the suit he has declared be led through strength up to him.

Always play against dummy, leading through his strength. That is, lead the suit he is strong in when dummy is your left-hand adversary, thereby putting his high cards at the mercy of your partner, and to his weakness when he is your righthand adversary.

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND BY JANE PHELPS

Helen Dubs Jack an 'Old Fog' CHAPTER 26.

Grudgingly Helen got up the next morning at Jack's insistent call. "Lazy-bones! No wonder you are sleepy. But you can rest after I am gone. I'll bring some sausage or bacon. I'm starving this morning."

The table was set and coffee made when he returned. Helen had thrown a negligee over her nightdress. She had hated this getting up after so little sleep, but something warned her not to push Jack any further that morning. Then, too, she wanted to go out with Mr. Barnes and his friends—should he invite her—and Jack had been inclined to resent her going.

"Here I am, a regular Santa Claus!" Jack called as he came in laden with bundles. "I'll fix a grape fruit while you cook the bacon. Turn on the oven and heat the rolls, too. I declare I could eat a horse and wagon this morning and then chase the driver to get him too."

"This is something like!" he exclaimed half an hour later when he sat down to a good breakfast as one could wish. "I shall be sure to mail some business today. I'll be home fairly early. We must get to bed in good season to make up for last night."

"You'll be an old man before you are 35 if you don't look out," Helen grumbled. "What difference does it make what time we go to bed? I hate going with the chickens. Mother used to say I was born a night-hawk."

"That's all right perhaps, for you, because you can rest during the day, but it's tough on a fellow who has to hustle. Not that it hurts occasionally, but as a regular diet it's pretty strenuous. And we've had two nights of it this week." He did not call her attention to his all-night helpfulness when she gave her party, simply said "we've had two nights." But Helen flared at once.

"Other young women have good times almost every night! I don't see how in the world you have gotten to be such an old fog! It's nothing but finding fault, and bending over some old papers all the time. You never consider me at all. What's the use of living if one can't have a good time?"

"You've asked me that before. I'm sorry, Helen, that you think me old foggy. I guess I—"

"I'll bet Howard Dunn stays up nights and writes big business as well. Nell Layton says he's very gay, and runs with a pretty swift crowd."

"Howard is a bachelor."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"A great deal. He feels no responsibility save for himself. I want to make money so we can have a home, and—"

"Well run along and make it, old foggy!" she took the sting from her words by giving him a resounding kiss and helping him with his coat.

"That's my good girl!" Jack took her in his arms, the unpleasant of the last few days almost forgotten.

He delivered his extra work, received his pay for it, pay he badly needed, then set out with a list of prospects.

"I must mail someone today," he communed with himself as he hurried along crowded streets. "It is almost the first of the month and Helen must have a stack of bills—that party—and other things. I wish we didn't have to run bills, a fellow never knows where he stands. But I don't see how it can be helped.—Ah! hello, Dunn! Where are you bound for?" He had spied Howard Dunn crossing the street in front of him.

"Same sort of errand you are I expect," Dunn said shaking hands cordially. "How's business?"

"Not so good! I had one good week—thanks to your tip, but haven't done anything since—not insurance, except one very small policy."

"What else are you doing?"

"Some clerical work—I take it home and do it evenings."

"Don't do it, Hunter! You can't burn the candle at both ends, and then it is neither fair to yourself, or your wife to use your evenings for work. Get out, have a good time, it helps to do good work the next day. Brightens you up, sharpens your wits to get about with bright people."

"All right—I'll think about it. Dunn, I stop here, glad I saw you!" and Jack hurried into an office building, thinking that it was strange that Dunn, too, seemed to think he should have a good time, and go out more with Helen. "He hasn't an idea how much it costs to live—with Helen," Jack muttered. "Nor how little I make."

The Elbinger New Securities

Offer a permanent 8% income and a further share in the profits

In drawing up the new issue of The Elbinger Shoe Manufacturing Company's 8% preferred stock, provisions were made to permit the conversion of these shares into no-par-common shares at the holder's option.

Earnings for the past six years, 1915 to 1920 inclusive, averaged in excess of 125% per year on the common shares then outstanding.

THE Elbinger Shoe Manufacturing Company, of Lebanon, Ohio, has heretofore been a close corporation, practically all of the common stock being held by the executives. The present financing, to provide capital to handle the large volume of business now on their books and to permit future expansion, affords the public an opportunity of sharing in the common stock profits.

The purchaser may convert each share of his 8% preferred into two of common at any time prior to 1928; a valuable privilege, for common stock earnings are expected to be unusually attractive through a continuation of the company's time-tested and successful policy.

The company, in their modernly equipped factory, make a staple line of women's medium priced shoes. Orders are now on their books from some of the country's largest mail order and retail chain-store organizations. This increased volume is in addition to their regular dealer trade.

Ninety-three per cent of the holders of The Elbinger Shoe Manufacturing Company's old preferred stock have signified their faith in their organization's future by subscribing to the new issue. Such, in part, is the result of the company's consecutive dividend record.
